NO. 50.

BROADHEAD.

Mrs. John Newland and children, of Lebanon Junction, are with relatives here.

Mrs. William McKinney, of near Spiro, died and was buried in Freedom cemetery Friday. She leaves four small children.

George Roberts, of near Maretburg, sold to Ben Dillingham his farm of 40 acres for $700 and bought of Ben Albright a 100 acre tract of land for $900, also a small tract from Mrs. Amanda Owens; consideration not known.

Before this is read by all of your readers the Rockcastle County Fair will have been a thing of the past. At this writing, Tuesday afternoon, it is hard to say just what success the association will meet with. People are divided as to whether it will be a "good fair" or not. The town is filling up with people, quite a number of strangers coming in. The fairs can be seen on all sides. The principal attraction at "the Country Fair" will be conspicuous for its absence this year—the merry-go-round, but in its place will be the ocean wave, but judging from what we have already seen it will not be much. The "cane" man and the "doll baby" man are both here. The "candy man" has his tent up. In our opinion the best attraction will be the three plays rendered by the Hamiltonian Club on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The plays are entitled, "Out in the Streets," "Farmer Hoskins" and "From Pumpkin Ridge." The fair at this place is one of the main events of the year and is treated as "Home Coming Week" among our people and many be the friends and relatives who visit here during the meet. Some of the visitors now with us are Mr. and Mrs. John Jarrett, Jr., of near Liberty; Mr. Isaac Storms, of Keavy; Mrs. Mona Dunn and daughter, Miss Ella, of Danville; Mrs. Belle Henderson, of Lowell; George Frith, of Nebraska, and others too numerous to mention.

No matter how long you have suffered, Foley's Kidney Remedy will help you. Mrs. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely. It will cure you. Sold by New Stanford Drug Co.

That King's Mountain Graded School Matter Again.

KING'S MOUNTAIN, Aug. 17.—There are hundreds of people who read the INTERIOR JOURNAL who do not know anything about the King's Mountain Graded School and we think Murphy and Acton made a mistake in publishing the statement as they did that will almost circle the globe for the purpose of trying to justify themselves for not levying a school tax. They knew that people here did not believe their story and then was the time to stop. They say in one statement that they urged us to levy the tax and in another statement they say they did not say anything about it for they knew we would vote against the levy. Why did they think we would vote against levying a tax when they knew we had all agreed to make the levy any time. They refer to meetings of the board in the latter part of May and first part of June in which they say they urged us to levy the tax. At the date of these meetings they were president and secretary and why would they be urging us to see that the tax was levied?

At a meeting of the board on July 14, President Lane suggested we borrow money and have a nine months' school and then vote an additional tax for the purpose of raising this money. This was discussed and Murphy advised us to work in this election and Acton and himself would just keep quiet. He wanted to do this because he did not want the tax or knew he had no influence. They finally agreed to help in the election but wanted the poll $1.50, which they knew would be voted down. We agreed on a poll of $1 and 20 cents on property. Later we were informed that the tax payers were not in favor of the $1 poll. Murphy and Acton objected to levying any less. We called the board together and voted for a poll of 50c. We then sent a petition to Judge J. S. Owsley to order an election. Before the petition had time to reach Stanford we were informed that Murphy and Acton were trying to influence men to vote against this additional tax.

It is well known here that because Murphy and Acton could not rule the board and employ the teachers they wanted, that they are now trying to ruin the school. Last year when the school was crowded and not seats enough, they had girls employed in their homes to do housework who lived out of the district but who came in on or about the first day of school free, one of them being over 21 years, the patrons paying the tax and their children crowded for five months before they would agree to have the matter adjusted. This is a fact and they can not deny it. Murphy was elected trustee in 1907, for two years, according to his own handwriting in the minutes when he was secretary; and this is also the statement of men who were trustees at that time. His time expired in May, 1909. A man was elected trustee to fill his place. Murphy refused him a certificate of election and is now serving as trustee unlawfully and against the will of almost every voter in the district.

We have the minute books, the opinion of attorneys who have seen them, and a number of the most reliable men here who are witnesses to these well-known facts.

One of the shortest sermons on record was that preached at the funeral of Mrs. Cresswell, a woman of the Stuart restoration period in England. She bequeathed $50 to fee a clergyman to preach her funeral sermon, stipulating that he was to mention her name and to speak nothing but well of her. He got over the obvious difficulty by briefly alluding to any praise except this: "She was born well, she lived well and she died well, for she was born with the name of Cresswell; she lived in Clerkenwell and Camberwell and she died in Bredwell."

There were 12 deaths from heat in Kansas City in 12 hours Tuesday.
